Acknowledgements

This course was made possible by the generous funding of the Philanthropy Lab (Fort Worth, TX) and the Endres Manufacturing Company Foundation (Waunakee, WI). We wish to extend sincere thanks to the Philanthropy Lab and the Endres Manufacturing Company Foundation for their support of this course, and in expanding philanthropy education at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

The University of Wisconsin-Madison occupies ancestral Ho-Chunk land, a place their nation has called Teejop (day-JOPE) since time immemorial. In an 1832 treaty, the Ho Chunk were forced to cede this territory. Decades of ethnic cleansing followed when both the federal and state government repeatedly, but unsuccessfully, sought to forcibly remove the Ho-Chunk from Wisconsin. This history of colonization informs our shared future of collaboration and innovation. Today, UW-Madison respects the inherent sovereignty of the Ho-Chunk Nation, along with the eleven other First Nations of Wisconsin.

Course Description

This class explores philanthropy and civic engagement through giving time, money and effort to a public purpose. Students will learn the philanthropic process including creating a giving plan, as well as exploring strategic and creative ways to give that promote civil society and engagement. Students will develop plans for assessment and evaluation of philanthropic giving.

Course Overview

This course explores philanthropy and civic engagement through giving time, money and effort to a public purpose. It includes the theory and structure of civil society, with special attention to the nonprofit sector. In addition to classroom learning, this course includes an exciting and unique experiential component. Over the course of a semester, students will decide on the distribution of real funds to support philanthropic goals through a philanthropy project. Students will learn the philanthropic process including creating a giving plan, as well as exploring strategic and creative ways to give that promote civil society and engagement. Students will develop plans for assessment and evaluation of giving including measurements of success that are indicators of impact.

Philanthropy has a long history of making a difference within our communities by taking private resources and developing them with a public purpose. More recently, philanthropic giving has become one of the largest trends in our society with Giving USA reporting in 2021, Americans gave over $485 billion to the philanthropic sector. Although philanthropic endeavors tend to be defined through gifts of money and time, the sector extends far beyond in more creative ways including social entrepreneurship to achieve the goal of making the world a better place. With approximately 1.4 million charitable and religious organizations that aid in advocacy, human and social services, research, education, as well as many others, our communities are stronger due to the support of these philanthropic works (Giving USA Foundation, 2022).

This course provides an in-depth understanding of philanthropy, including its historical development, and normative and structural elements as a driver of social change. Contemporary topics will include: ethics, future trends, diverse populations, women and youth philanthropy, as well as corporate, international, and disaster relief philanthropy. It also includes information about careers that focus on philanthropy. By the end of the course, students will have knowledge of the history and structure of civil society, the tradition of competing value commitments in civil society, the modern nonprofit sector and its relationship to government and for-profit arenas, and key challenges facing nonprofit organizations related to philanthropic giving today nationally and globally.

Philanthropy Lab Project

A unique aspect of this course is a lab on philanthropy which incorporates a practical giving exercise focused on grant evaluation and donating in an effective manner. A special feature of this course will be an opportunity for students to apply theoretical knowledge to a real-world decision-making process by determining how to allocate $50,000 in actual grant funds to nonprofit organizations. Students will learn how to formulate goals to give effectively and learn to assess and evaluate whether the goals have been achieved.

Students will evaluate the role of values in philanthropy and develop funding priorities within broad social topic areas. In the process of choosing recipients, students will address several key questions:

- How should funds be distributed in a way that optimizes the benefits, meets goals and objectives, and are consistent with one's values?
- What is the basis of private philanthropic giving for the public good?
- To what extent do non-governmental organizations depend on philanthropic giving to operate and achieve goals domestically and globally?
- How should charitable dollars be distributed and what role do nonprofit organizations and philanthropic dollars play in a modern democracy?
- What are the appropriate criteria to be used to select grant recipients?
- How do you assess the success of your giving in accomplishing objectives and goals?

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

1. Critically analyze philanthropy issues from a human ecology perspective.
2. Recognize the social responsibility of individuals within a community and reflect on the role of giving within civil society including corporate, international, & disaster relief philanthropy.
3. Identify multiple stakeholders and describe the possibilities, values, and limitations of philanthropic decisions.
4. Explore philanthropy trends: women and giving, corporate philanthropy, diverse populations, and youth philanthropy.
5. Share fund allocation decisions using written, oral, and visual communication.
6. Explore careers that focus on philanthropy in the nonprofit and corporate settings.

Communication and Technology Policies

Communication: Please check our Canvas site throughout the semester, reviewing the “Home” section, and other pertinent sections (e.g., “Assignments”, “Discussion”, etc.”). You are responsible for monitoring Canvas Inbox for relevant course materials throughout the semester.

Technology Policies: Please treat the classroom as you would a professional foundation board room. This means you should limit your laptop use to taking notes and relevant course work, and refrain from cell phone use. This is your chance to practice professional skills which will be essential in your future careers and community work.

Grading

Timely completion of assignments is an important part of professionalism. Points will be deducted for each day that an assignment is late unless you have obtained prior approval from the instructor or in the case of an unforeseen emergency. All assignments and course requirements will be evaluated using UW-Madison’s grading scale (below).

Letter Grade	GPA Value	Final Points Grade	Final Percentage Grade
A (Excellent)	4.0	93-100 points	93-100%
AB (Intermediate Grade)	3.5	88-92.5 points	88-92.5%
B (Good)	3.0	83-87.5 points	83-87.5%
BC (Intermediate Grade)	2.5	78-82.5 points	78-82.5%
C (Fair)	2.0	70-77.5 points	70-77.5%
D (Poor)	1.0	60-69.5 points	60-69%
F (Failure)	0.0	0-59.5 points	<59.5%

-Including class prep and posts to Canvas

-Including self and peer assessment of group work

-Including Instructor assessment of group work and discussion participation

$10 Exercise: 5 points

Giving Goal: 5 points

Review of Proposals: 15 points

Site Visit & Reports: 10 points

Book Club: Flash Talks & Book Discussion: 10 points

Inspiring Philanthropist paper: 10 points

Attendance at Award Ceremony: 5 points

Final Reflective Essay: 15 points

Total Points Possible: 100 points

Course Requirements & Assignments

Attendance and Participation:

Participation assignments are due periodically in the course as indicated in the Course Schedule. Attendance and participation assessments will also be monitored. Your grade will be calculated at the end of the semester.

As one student previously said, “This class is not a ‘class’, it is real life. It is teaching students how to grow up, gain responsibility, and make an impact in our communities.” Through this course you are given a power that should not be taken lightly: the power to deeply impact real communities. In order to respect these communities, it is essential for you to take responsibility for maintaining a professional and engaged atmosphere in the classroom. In order to accomplish this, and to facilitate effective discussions and a team-based learning experience, attendance is mandatory, and all absences will be accounted for in your final participation grade. As part of your professional practice, please make sure to be on time to all class sessions and please do not leave the classroom during the class period. Leaving during the course time for any reason, other than a verifiable emergency, will reflect negatively on your participation grade for the day. This course also requires that you prepare and be actively engaged in class activities and you will be evaluated on the frequency and quality of your participation in group discussions and team work. At some points in the semester you will be asked to prepare for specific class activities ahead of time, and your engagement in this work will weigh heavily on your participation grade.

Each student is allowed one unexcused absence. For any additional absences, your attendance grade will be lowered 5 points unless you provide written documentation of an acceptable reason such as:

- Religious observations
- University sponsored requirements (with appropriate documentation)
- A doctor’s note verifying that you are unable or advised not to attend class
- Family death or an emergency

$10 Exercise:

If you were given $10 to “do something good” how would you choose to use it? In this activity, you will do just this and be given $10 to use as a philanthropist in any way you choose. More detailed instructions will be disseminated in class.

Book Club: Flash Talks & Book Discussion:

The purpose of this assignment is to broaden our understandings of philanthropy and explore specific topics in its philosophy, application and social impacts. We have chosen two books that do an excellent job of exploring these ideas. However, since we do not have enough time in a semester to read everything individually, you will work collectively to read and teach the material to your peers. For more detailed instructions, see Appendix A.

Inspiring Philanthropist Paper:

The purpose of this assignment is to learn more about an inspiring philanthropist and to explore their lives and work. The idea is to find someone who you can learn from and have as an inspirational figure and model of philanthropy. For more detailed instructions, see Appendix B.

Giving Goals:

Your giving goal is designed to allow you to apply your learning about philanthropy to your own personal life. The giving goal serves to guide your giving in the future and should reflect your values and areas of interests. Sample Giving Goals can be found on the Philanthropy Lab website

<https://www.thephilanthropylab.org/givinggoal.aspx>. You should post your goal both to the Discussion Board and on the Philanthropy Lab website by the due date. More details can be found in the "Giving Goals" handout from the Philanthropy Lab which will be disseminated in class.

Review of Proposals:

The due date for this assignment will be determined by the Grant Evaluation committee.

One of the most important activities in this class is reviewing the grant applications that are submitted. You will each be assigned grants to review and will use the process and rubrics developed by the Grant Evaluation team to accomplish this. Completing your reviews and submitting them on time is very important. No late submissions will be accepted. Reviews that are completed late hold the entire course back from making decisions and do not give the proper respect to the organizations that have submitted applications.

Site Visits or Phone Calls & Report:

The due date for this assignment will be determined by the Research & Site Visit committee.

An important part of the grant review process involves site visits/phone calls to the top organization applicants. You will conduct these visits in small groups. You will also need to take notes and report back on your findings to the rest of the class. The Site Visit group will give you more details later in the semester about the process and focus of these visits.

Final Reflective Essay:

This assignment is due during the Final Exam period on Canvas.

You will complete a final Reflective Essay which will center on your experience and learning in this course. Your essay will be due as an attachment on Canvas during the Final Exam time, more detailed instructions and an essay prompt will be disseminated 2 weeks prior to the due date.

Course Policies

UW-Madison Credit Hour Policy

This class meets for two 75-minute class periods each week over the semester and carries the expectation that students will work on course learning activities (reading, writing, board work, etc.) for about 3 hours out of the classroom for every class period.

Rules, Rights and Responsibilities

See the Undergraduate Guide to Rules, Rights and Responsibilities, outlining Student Privacy Rights, Availability of Academic Record Information to Parents or Guardians or Others, Student Rights and Responsibilities, Student Grievance Procedures, Seeking Assistance and AlcoholEdu.

Academic Integrity

By enrolling in this course, each student assumes the responsibilities of an active participant in UW-Madison's community of scholars in which everyone's academic work and behavior are held to the highest academic integrity standards. Academic misconduct compromises the integrity of the university. Cheating, fabrication, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, and helping others commit these acts are examples of academic misconduct, which can result in disciplinary action. This includes but is not limited to failure on the assignment/course, disciplinary probation, or suspension. Substantial or repeated cases of misconduct will be forwarded to the Office of Student Conduct & Community Standards for additional review. For more information, refer to the student conduct website.

Special Accommodations

I support the right of all enrolled students to a full and equal educational opportunity. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), Wisconsin State Statute (36.12), and UW-Madison policy (Faculty Document 1071) require that students with disabilities be reasonably accommodated in instruction and campus life. Reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities is a shared faculty and student responsibility. Students are expected to inform me of their need for instructional accommodations by the end of the third week of the semester, or as soon as possible after a disability has been incurred or recognized. I will work either directly with you or in coordination with the McBurney Center to identify and provide reasonable instructional accommodations. Disability information, including instructional accommodations as part of a student's educational record, is confidential and protected under FERPA.

Statement on Accommodation for Students' Religious Observances

According to campus-wide policy on religious observance, I invite you to notify me within the first three weeks of class of the specific dates for which you request relief for religious observance, since these may affect your ability to meet course deadlines.

Diversity & Inclusion

Diversity is a source of strength, creativity, and innovation for UW-Madison. We value the contributions of each person and respect the profound ways their identity, culture, background, experience, status, abilities, and opinion enrich the university community. We commit ourselves to the pursuit of excellence in teaching, research, outreach, and diversity as inextricably linked goals.

The University of Wisconsin-Madison fulfills its public mission by creating a welcoming and inclusive community for people from every background – people who as students, faculty, and staff serve Wisconsin and the world.” <https://diversity.wisc.edu/>.

COVID-19 and the CSCS 400 Course—Expectations for Students

Students are asked to follow University guidelines regarding what actions to take should you become ill, have symptoms or have a positive COVID test. Please email your instructor requiring accommodations that could include attending and participating in class remotely.

Learning Activities

These key learning activities will supplement readings, discussions and lectures in ways that allow students to enrich their understandings of the possibilities of philanthropy.

- Guest Speakers: The experiences of guest speakers will broaden students’ understandings of philanthropy, professional opportunities, and the realities of both giving and receiving.
- Site Visits: Students will conduct site visits with selected organizations and meet with nonprofit professionals to better evaluate proposals and building relationships.
- Cohort Presentation: Students from prior classes will share the results of their evaluation process.
- Awards Ceremony: On Students will host an awards ceremony for grant awardees at the university.

Supplemental Learning Activities

Films: These films provide students with insights into the history and contemporary practices of philanthropic endeavors from a variety of perspectives and will be shown as time allows.

- “American Experience” PBS: Three films from the collection will be shown to highlight the history, key players and past successes of philanthropy.
 - The Great Famine: “Sets a riveting story of American engagement with a distant and desperate people—an engagement hailed for its efficiency, grit and generosity”
 - A Shot to Save the World: “Reveals the dramatic story behind the development of the first polio vaccine. It is a story that shows one of the most remarkable examples of how much can be achieved when a nation—and a world—pulls together to defeat a common enemy.”
- “New Heroes” PBS: “The New Heroes tells the dramatic stories of fourteen daring social entrepreneurs who are undaunted by the chronic challenges of poverty, illness, unemployment, violence and ignorance they see in the world around them.”
- Poverty Inc.: “Follows the butterfly effect of our most well-intentioned efforts and pulls back the curtain on the poverty industrial complex. Are we catalyzing development or are we propagating a system in which the poor stay poor” “Who Cares? “Anyone can be a change maker, regardless of leadership or marketable skills. It starts with having a vision for society while seeking accomplishment in one’s life through contributions to improving the lives of others”; Henry Ford: “Paints a fascinating portrait of a farm boy whose fortune is still a part of one of the preeminent foundations in the United States which often leads the way in giving.”

Philanthropy Exhibits: Students will visit virtual exhibits to learn more about the connections between philanthropy, the arts and social issues.

Class Schedule & Readings

Unit 1: The Social Meanings & Realities of Giving

In this unit, we will explore the social dynamics and impacts of philanthropic giving by analyzing the roots of philanthropy and its role and landscape in American society.

Week 1: Course Overview

In this session we will introduce the teaching team and the course. We will outline learning goals and expectations for the semester.

Thursday, September 7: Course Overview

- Class Activity:
 - Pre-Surveys
 - Introduce Instructors
 - Review Syllabus and Course Expectations
 - Personal Notecard completed
 - Review Grant Cycle for Course

Week 2: Philanthropy & Inequality

By its very nature, philanthropy is intricately connected to issues of inequality and power in society, whether through the issues it addresses or the nature of those who give. This week, we explore these connections and the various mechanisms and impacts they have on philanthropic giving and society. We will also interrogate how power, privilege and positionality are implicated in the philanthropic process. We will consider who gets funded and why. We will ask the question, “What role can philanthropy play in supporting social change and justice?”

Tuesday, September 12: The Relationship

- Class Activity:
 - Review Committees and Instructions for submitting preferences
 - Assign Flash Talks
 - Introduction to Global Inequality
 - Terminology and Definitions
- Readings: Students should read the following to inform discussions:
 - “Global Philanthropy and Inequality” LINK
 - Inspired Philanthropy Ch 1: Giving and the Nonprofit World
 - Inspired Philanthropy Ch 14: The Power of Partnership, Transformative Philanthropy

Thursday, September 14: Funding, Power & Social Change

- Class Activity:
 - Conversations and analysis of readings, be prepared to discuss
 - Committee Work
 - Instructors will distribute Committee Assignments via Canvas, begin communicating with your committee.
 - $10 Exercise Disseminated
- Readings: Read the following material before class. And submit the following to the assignment on Canvas, “Week 2 Readings” Assignment. Your submission should include 1 quality discussion question that either focuses on one specific reading or looks at themes across the readings. You should also identify one significant quote from each text. This prep work will be used to structure the class discussion.
 - Joyaux, S., (2004). “Philanthropy: Its Many Faces of Power” Plenary AFP Mid America Conference: LINK
 - Preface, Forward, and Introduction in edited by Incite! Women of Color Against Violence. (2007). The Revolution Will Not Be Funded: Beyond the Non-Profit Industrial Complex.

Appendix A

Book Club: Flash Talk Presentations

The purpose of this assignment is to broaden our understandings of philanthropy and explore specific topics in its philosophy, application and social impacts. We have chosen two books that explore these ideas well. However, since we do not have time in a semester to read everything individually, you will work collectively to read and teach the material to your peers.

You will be assigned one chapter to read, and you will have exactly 2 minutes to share the material with the class. Please practice your presentation and time it so that it will fit within the time frame and all students can share their presentation. Your presentation should be engaging and communicate the key arguments from the reading that your peers should know. You may use visuals (PPT, etc.), and we encourage you to be creative in how you convey your main ideas. Following the Flash Talk presentations, each student should have a solid understanding of the main ideas and arguments put forth in both books. Grades are based on adherence to presentation guidelines (e.g., time limit, speaking from outline instead of notes), clarity, engagement w/ audience, and grasp of the material.

Book Selections

Chang, Ann Mei, Lean Impact: How to Innovate for Radically Greater Social Good. (Wiley, 2019)

“Lean Impact is a hands-on guide designed to exponentially increase the impact of our time and money. Building on the modern innovation practices that have fueled the technological breakthroughs that have touched every aspect of our lives.”

Incite! Women of Color Against Violence (Ed). The Revolution Will Not Be Funded: Beyond the Non-Profit Industrial Complex (Duke University Press, 2017).

“A trillion-dollar industry, the US non-profit sector is one of the world's largest economies. From art museums and university hospitals to think tanks and church charities, over 1.5 million organizations of staggering diversity share the tax-exempt designation, if little else. Many social justice organizations have joined this world, often blunting political goals to satisfy government and foundation mandates. But even as funding shrinks, many activists often find it difficult to imagine movement-building outside the non-profit model. The Revolution Will Not Be Funded gathers essays by radical activists, educators, and non-profit staff from around the globe who critically rethink the long-term consequences of what they call the ‘non-profit industrial complex.’ Drawing on their own experiences, the contributors track the history of non-profits and provide strategies to transform and work outside them. Urgent and visionary, The Revolution Will Not Be Funded presents a biting critique of the quietly devastating role the non-profit industrial complex plays in managing dissent.”

First Nations Development Institute, Telling Our Giving Stories: Native Philanthropy and Community Development. (First Nations Institute, 2015).

“Native grantmaking programs represent a diverse array of legal and organizational structures. Regardless of the model chosen for a philanthropic program, a large and growing number of tribes and Native nonprofits are using philanthropy to protect Native financial assets, capitalize economic development programs in their communities, and support their cultures. As part of an integrated asset-building program, Native-controlled grantmaking entities are supporting institution-building through capitalizing nascent nonprofits in Native communities, and through funding innovative asset-building strategies. The growth of the Native philanthropic sector over the past 40 years has implications for the development and expansion of Native economies, the civil society sector in reservation communities, and the effectiveness of tribal government in years to come.”

Tyrone McKinley Freeman, Madam C.J. Walker’s Gospel of Giving: Black Women’s Philanthropy during Jim Crow. (University of Illinois Press, 2020).

“Founder of a beauty empire, Madam C.J. Walker was celebrated in the early 1900s as America’s first self-made female millionaire. Known as a leading African American entrepreneur, Walker was also devoted to an activist philanthropy aimed at empowering African Americans and challenging the injustices inflicted by Jim Crow.”

Edgar Villanueva, Decolonizing Wealth: Indigenous Wisdom to Heal Divides and Restore Balance. (2nd edition, 2021, Berrett-Koehler Publishers, Inc.) “This is primarily a book for people who direct the flow of money. ... More broadly, this is also a book for anyone who is interested in healing the wounds of racism, colonization, and dehumanization. This second edition has been expanded to include stories of people working in fields beyond philanthropy and finance, who have been inspired to apply the lessons and Indigenous wisdom from the book to their sector.” (page 1).

P. Woodruff (Ed), The Ethics of Giving: Philosophers’ Perspectives on Philanthropy (Oxford Uni., 2018).

“In giving to charity, should we strive to do the greatest good or promote a lesser good that we care more about? On such issues, ethical theory can have momentous practical effects. This collection includes new papers on philanthropy from a range of philosophical perspectives. Most recently published work by philosophers on charitable giving tends to support what is called effective altruism—doing the most good you can. In practice, however, charitable giving is often local and relatively ineffective, supporting causes dear to the givers’ hearts. Are ineffective givers doing wrong or merely doing less praiseworthy work than they might? This volume includes at least three challenges to the effective altruism movement, as well as two chapters that defend it against the gathering tide of objections. Most thinkers who align with utilitarianism support effective altruism, and some other perspectives do as well. But the ideal of personal integrity can push the other way. So can justice-based theories of giving: perhaps I could do the most good by stealing and giving to the poor, but that would be unjust. In the most important cases, however, justice leads to the same result as effective altruism. Other theories give different results.”

L. Joyce Zapanta Mariano, Giving Back: Filipino America and the Politics of Diaspora Giving (2021, Temple University Press). “Filipino Americans give back, not only to families in the Philippines but also to communities, projects, and organizations. Filipino Americans may give back to provide relief to poor or vulnerable Filipinos or to address the forces that maintain poverty, vulnerability, or exploitative relationships in the Philippines. These various acts of giving provide a source of cohesion and purpose for Filipino America.... Giving back, a prominent feature of Filipino American identity and communities, is central to the moral economies of Filipino migration, immigration, and diasporic return.” (page 1)

Inspiring Philanthropists Paper

The purpose of this assignment is to learn more about an inspiring philanthropist and to explore their lives and work. For this assignment, you should survey the work of several philanthropists and choose one that you connect with the most to research further. You may be drawn to their personal experiences, their life journey, the values they express or the issue areas they address. We will ask you to share the philanthropist you chose and why you chose them at the awards ceremony. If there is someone you know personally who fits these requirements, you may identify them as your inspiring philanthropist. Whenever possible, we encourage you to reach out to your chosen philanthropist and speak with them directly about their giving and views on philanthropy. The idea is to find someone who you can learn from and have as an inspirational figure and model of philanthropy.

Criteria:

Your chosen philanthropist:

- Can be living or deceased
- Should not be a celebrity or famous philanthropist (i.e. Gates, Oprah, Chance the Rapper)
- Could be someone you know personally
 - If not: They should be from Wisconsin or do philanthropy in the area.

Once you have chosen a philanthropist to study and research, you should write a 2-page single spaced essay which addresses the following questions:

- Biographical information that impacted their philanthropy, historical context
- Issue areas they have focused on through their philanthropy
- Notable achievements
- Why you chose this philanthropist
- How their life/work might impact your own giving, and what you learned from their approach that you can incorporate into your work in this class and beyond.

Assessment Criteria:

To receive full credit, your essay should address all topics covered in the assignment and the basic requirements outlined. It should be written following professional standards and should show quality in structure and style (remember to proofread!). Your essay should also show quality research and insight into the philanthropist activities and experiences. It should also draw clear connections between the philanthropist and your own values. Your essay should be submitted electronically in a Word document to Canvas on time.

Late submissions will only receive ½ of the available points.
